SINGAPORE CONFERENCE ON APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY

BY DR. THOMAS HUNT

2021 Singapore Conference on Applied Psychology (SCAP 2021), organized by East Asia Research and supported by Singapore University of Technology and Design and University of Derby, will be held in the cosmopolitan city of Singapore.

The theme of the Singapore Conference on Applied Psychology 2021 is “Psychological Well-being”.

We invite researchers and practitioners from all fields of psychology research and practice to present and discuss recent innovations, trends, concerns, practical challenges encountered and the solutions adopted in the field of Applied Psychology, with a special focus on psychological well-being. This can include clinical and non-clinical psychological well-being and we encourage submissions that cross disciplines, for example psychological well-being in education and the workplace. We welcome submissions from a range of methodological approaches, including quantitative and qualitative work.

What can you expect at SCAP 2021?

- Ample interaction opportunities for SCAP delegates
- Top Singapore hospitality for all attending delegates
- An intellectually stimulating scientific program featuring more than 100 presentations by leading researchers, teachers, and practitioners
- An opportunity for East-West science and practice collaborations at SCAP

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Keynote Speaker

Dr. Yow Wei Quin

Assoc. Professor & Assoc. Head of HASS (Research), Singapore University of Technology and Design

Dr Yow Wei Quin obtained her PhD (Psychology), MA (Psychology) and MSc (Statistics) from Stanford University, USA. She also received her MBA (Strategic Development) from Nanyang Technological University and BSocSc. (Honors in Psychology) from National University of Singapore. She has published in several peer-refereed international journals and book chapters and presented papers in various international conferences on the impact of bilingualism on socio-cognitive development and academic motivation in education.

Keynote Speaker

Dr Carrie Childs

Senior Lecturer, School of Human Sciences, University of Derby

Dr Carrie Childs is a Senior Lecturer in Psychology at the University of Derby, United Kingdom. She completed her Doctoral degree at Loughborough University. As a social psychologist with a strong qualitative background, she has focused her research on how language is used to negotiate relationships, actions and events in our everyday lives. Carrie has a long standing research interest in sexuality issues. Her past work has explored interaction between police officers and children reporting alleged sexual offences. More recently, she has turned her attentions to social constructions of sexuality, particularly the marginalisation of non-normative sexual practices and relationships. Her current work explores discursive constructions of 'sex addiction' in the accounts of women who identify as being sexually addicted.

Conference Chair

Dr Thomas Hunt

Assoc. Professor, School of Human Sciences, University of Derby

Dr Hunt is an Assoc. Professor in the School of Human Sciences at the University of Derby in the UK. As an internationally recognised researcher in the field of mathematics anxiety, he has published several self-report measures and conducted a range of studies investigating the mechanisms that underpin the relationship between mathematics anxiety and performance. Dr Hunt's recent work has involved studying mathematics anxiety in an applied way, including drug dosage calculation anxiety in nursing students and statistics anxiety in students. He regularly works with a range of stakeholders to provide professional development workshops on the topic of mathematics anxiety, including strategies to reduce it.
